ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An application is provided for managing files. Information about a file system is mapped to a comparison file. A working version is made from the file system. The application identify one or more operations were performed on the working version. The identified operations are recreated on the file system during a synchronization operation.

5

50277-1734
(OID 2001-032-01)